candidates is reduced, extended the timeframe for candidates to provide info to the company, and limited board discretion in interpreting the bylaw.

<sup>5</sup> Cabot Oil & Gas amended its bylaw on July 27, 2016, to reduce the ownership threshold from 5% to 3%, increase the group aggregation from 10 to 20 shareholders, provide that two or more funds under common management and investment control be treated as one shareholder, include loaned shares if they are recallable within five business days, and remove the one-year post-meeting holding requirement.

<sup>6</sup> Following their 2015 annual meetings, CF Industries Holdings, Marathon Oil and Priceline Group revised their 5%/3-year proxy access bylaws to conform more closely to the shareholder proposal.

<sup>7</sup> Cheniere Energy amended its bylaw on Sep. 15, 2016 to count funds under common management as one shareholder and eliminate the minimal 25% voting requirement for access candidates to be renominated. ISS had recommended against the governance & nominating committee members at the 2016 annual meeting for inadequately responding to a 2015 majority vote on a shareholder proxy access proposal.

<sup>8</sup> Cloud Peak Energy's 2015 management proposal (5%/3 years, single holder, 10% of board) was rejected in favor of the shareholder proposal. Cloud Peak adopted a 3/3/20/20 bylaw on Oct. 20, 2015. It amended the bylaw on May 2, 2016, after ISS recommended against its governance committee members for not adequately responding to the 2015 majority vote on the shareholder proposal. The amendment raised the board seat cap from 20% to 25%, removed the 20-shareholder limit on group aggregations, and removed all of the secondary provisions that ISS deemed overly restrictive.

<sup>9</sup> Flowserve amended its bylaw on Aug. 11, 2016 to reduce the ownership threshold from 5% to 3%.

<sup>10</sup> Hasbro amended its bylaw on Dec. 10, 2015, to change the recall period for loaned shares from three to five business days and to expand the classes of holders that count as a single shareholder for aggregation purposes.

<sup>11</sup> HCP revised its bylaw on Jan. 28, 2016 to lower the ownership threshold from 5% to 3%, increase shareholder aggregations from 10 to 20 holders, and permit a minimum of two proxy access nominees. It additionally provided that certain funds will be counted as one shareholder, clarified that shares on loan count towards the ownership threshold, removed the one-year, post-meeting holding requirement, and decreased the minimum level of support for renomination of a proxy access candidate from 25% to 10%.

<sup>12</sup> Honeywell International amended its bylaw on Feb. 12, 2016, to permit third-party compensation of director nominees if disclosed, change the recall period for loaned shares from three to five business days, and limit nominator's indemnification of access nominees to actions prior to election, not post-election.

<sup>13</sup> Microsoft amended its bylaw on Sep. 20, 2016 to reduce the voting support to renominate an access candidate from 25% to 15%, increase the time period for recalling loaned shares from three days to five days, eliminate the requirement that loaned shares be recalled when the nominator gives notice to the company, clarify when funds count as a single shareholder, and clarify indemnification provisions.

<sup>14</sup> Monsanto amended its bylaw on Jan. 11, 2016. Previously, the bylaw was silent on counting loaned shares, required a one-year holding period after the annual meeting, prohibited renominations for two annual meetings if the nominee received less than 25% support, and only prohibited third-party compensation for board service if not disclosed.

<sup>15</sup> New York Community Bancorp amended its bylaw on Dec. 20, 2016 to reduce the ownership threshold from 5% to 3%, increase the group aggregation limit from 10 to 20 SH, and add a 2-director minimum.

<sup>16</sup> Noble Energy amended its bylaw on July 27, 2016, to reduce the ownership threshold from 5% to 3%, increase the group aggregation limit from 20 to 25 SH, raise the board seat cap from 20% to 25%, count funds under common management and/or investment control as a single shareholder, and reducing the minimum voting requirement for renomination from 25% to 15%.

<sup>17</sup> Northrop Grumman amended its bylaw on Feb. 17, 2016, to expand permissible third-party compensation of director nominees, providing that it may not exceed the total annual compensation paid to company directors and may include the reimbursement of reasonable expenses incurred in connection with board candidacy.

<sup>18</sup> NVR amended its bylaw on March 17, 2016 to reduce the ownership threshold from 5% to 3% and to include recallable loaned shares.

<sup>19</sup> Oshkosh amended its bylaw on Sep. 13, 2016 to reduce the ownership threshold from 5% to 3%, eliminate a one-year post-meeting holding requirement, and eliminate the minimal 25% voting support for the renomination of an access candidate.

<sup>22</sup> QUALCOMM amended its bylaw on July 11, 2016 to add a two-director minimum to the board seat cap, eliminate the one-year post-meeting holding, eliminate the minimal 25% voting support for the renomination of an access candidate, eliminate the two-year freezeout on a nominator whose candidate was elected to the board, and remove the provision that an access director nominated by the board counts against the permitted number of access nominees.

<sup>23</sup> Regency Centers amended its bylaw on April 21, 2016 to allow 20 holders to aggregate their shares. Previously, no aggregation was allowed.

<sup>24</sup> SBA Communications amended its bylaw on Jan. 12, 2017, to reduce the ownership threshold from 5% to 3%, eliminate the cap on group aggregations, increase the number of access nominees from 20% to 25% of the board, reduce the threshold for renomination from 25% to 20% voting support and the look-back from three to two years, eliminate restrictions on using shares on loan to meet the ownership threshold, eliminated the prohibition on third-party compensation for access candidates, and eliminate the prohibition on the availability of proxy access when there is a proxy fight unless the latter is for a majority of the board.

<sup>25</sup> United Natural Foods amended its bylaw on Sep. 3, 2016 to add a two-director minimum to the board seat cap and expand the period for recalling loaned shares from three to five business days.

<sup>26</sup> A management proposal passed in 2016. Exelon had adopted a 5% bylaw in 2015.

<sup>28</sup> BorgWarner amended its bylaw on July 26, 2016 to lower the ownership threshold from 5% to 3%, increase nominating groups from 10 to 25 shareholders, and allow for a two-director minimum.

<sup>29</sup> L-3 Communications amended its bylaw on Dec. 7, 2016 to allow for a two-director minimum, remove the requirement that one member of the nominating group own 1% of the stock, decrease the minimum voting support for renomination from 25% to 15%, and remove the one-year post-meeting holding period.
